

Newsletter

Hello hello hello! Welcome to an all new Adlerman newsletter, jam packed with so much info you'll need to read it twice. Last month we started with business and then went to family. As you know, we normally alternate this from letter to letter, but the news this month is so big we need to keep you posted on it. Next letter will begin with family news a plenty, okey dokey? OK now, are you ready? Sitting down? OK, we'll wait...

...good.

Now then: Kim has joined a cooperative art gallery! That's right, Metuchen Art Works opened their doors officially last Saturday. There is an opening reception this Saturday, November 13th, at the gallery - 15 Station Place, Metuchen, NJ, from 7:00 PM - 10:00 PM. You will find offerings from 13 of the area's most talented artists, including our very own Kim. Please come, enjoy a glass of wine, pore over a stunning array of artwork, rendered by more than a dozen genuinely interesting talents, and wish Kim well in her latest creative venture!

The gallery will feature original artwork; Kim's offerings, to begin with, will be select pieces from Africa Calling. The coming months will see selections from Rock-A-Bye Baby, as well as upcoming works, and of course original pieces created exclusively for the gallery. The possibility of giclee prints is also being entertained.

Further, the gallery will feature one room which will be designated a one man show, revolving each month; this month features the talents of impressionist Michael Bransfield. The rest of the gallery will be devoted to the rest of the group. So if you can't make it this Saturday, do note Kim's month for her one woman extravaganza will be April; we will let you know well in advance the reception date.

Speaking of giclee prints and galleries, we'd be remiss if we didn't remind you to check out, at our site, the Gallery of Kim's Artwork. There you will find pieces from both Rock-A-Bye Baby and Africa Calling, and if you like you can even purchase a print of anything on the page.

What else, you say? OK, we're now officially one piece of artwork away from starting the production process on our next book, HOW MUCH WOOD COULD A WOODCHUCK CHUCK? Based on the song by the same name from Danny's album One Size Fits All, this knockout book will feature artwork by more illustrators than you can shake a stick at...and Danny has tried! And not just any illustrators, either - we're talking the likes of...sorry. We need to give you something to read next time now, don't we?

Speaking of One Size Fits All, a holiday reminder: If you're looking for a copy, you can pick it up from our site for a paltry \$10! In fact, for ten American sheckels you can get ANY of the albums at our Shopping Cart, including Jim Babjak's Buzzed Meg, The Grip Weeds, or even The Tomato Collection! However, we have a little inside tip for you: CD Baby.com, is offering a "threebie" special: Buy an album, it shows up at regular price. Get another: Same thing.

Put a THIRD album in your cart, and WHAM! All three are just five bucks each. FIVE MEASLY BUCKS! So if you're an independent music hog, you'll want to go the \$5 Specials link and check out all of the genres and albums. Time is running out on this one though people, so this is a GREAT time to get some good music cheap!

The new big album for little people is now about halfway done, and is so stylistically varied it'll make your heads spin. It's rock and roll, baby - for whole families! At last, someone is thinking of YOU for a change! And the guests...oh, there are guests galore. Who are they? Film at eleven, peeps!

Attention, audiophiles! Enjoy listening to streaming music? Prefer downloading single songs or even whole albums to a store? Want to avoid the wait of having your disks shipped to you? Have WE been thinking of YOU! One Size Fits All, The Tomato Collection, Jim Babjak's Buzzed Meg, and select The Grip Weeds music is available at Apple - iTunes, RHAPSODY - Digital Music Service, MusicNet, Napster.com, and up to 26 other digital music download services! So dig in - ya know ya wanna!

We find ourselves so busy touring, we'll actually be pleased to settle down next month, just in time to get ready for the holidays! To find out where we'll be until then, though, click on our appearances link.

Okely dokely, your patience has paid off. Here's what about our family:

First off, Rachelle: Nothing.

Josh: Nope.

Maxx: Uh-uh.

OK, we're kidding, of course! We do that. We kid. Rachelle in fact is wrapping up another season of playing soccer, which seems to be her team sport of choice. Joshua and Maxx we're also soccer players this autumn, and if you're thinking our Saturday mornings have been busy, you ain't just whistlin' "Dixie"! We'll tell ya this, though: That Maxx is a cutie. Sshh. Don't tell anyone we said that.

Rachelle is enjoying seventh grade and is still playing cello. Joshua is now close to attaining his brown belt in Tae Kwan Doe. Don't mess with him. Seriously.

In a stunning development, Maxx has not yet been asked to leave Kindergarten. Hokey smokes, we couldn't be prouder. Or more surprised.

Bowling: The reason you're reading this in the first place! Suffice to say we are bowling better than our standings would indicate. It seems no matter how much better we get, whomever is playing us is getting betterer.

We have lost, since we last checked in, a family member as well as an old friend...although we had not known Uncle Gordie as well as we would have wanted, we did have the chance to spend the afternoon with him and our Seattle family not too long ago. He was more than just a swell guy - his warmth and sense of humor were coupled with a real inner peace and grace that made us feel immediately comfortable. And Billy Klein passed suddenly just two days ago. Billy was a childhood friend of Danny's, who we wish we had seen more of since our wedding some 13 years ago. He was 42. There will be plenty of you reading this who knew at least one of those men. So do us a favor: Stop it, give us a break for a nice long time, OK? And one more thing while we're at it: STAY IN TOUCH WITH US. As far as we know, once you're gone, you can't come back.

Site of the month: Kids-In-Mind: Movie Ratings That Actually Work. Concerned about the movies your kids want to see? You ought to be. This will help - promise.

Rock and roll closer: Fleetwood Mac, back in the mid-70's, gave some good advice that is perhaps more important now than ever: "Don't stop thinkin' about tomorrow. Don't stop, it'll soon be here."

Peace, happy Thanksgiving, and please keep in touch!

- the adlerpeoples

PS: Although we know you're thrilled to receive this newsletter, if your dark side has somehow persuaded you to be deleted from the database, please just tell us and we'll try to honor your request quickly. Because we care. About you. Really.

To read our previous newsletters, just click this News of The Past link.

\(Top of Page\)