

Howdy to you, and to you, and to you!

Here we are in March already, a-welcoming spring - and we believe our seasonal offering will be most welcome - for it is good news regarding Songs For Americas Children! We'll start there, and then proceed to other items for benefit of those who wish to clock out before reading other news.

OK, here we go: The mechanicals went through two rounds of copyediting and is OFF TO THE PRINTER! By the time you receive next month's update, first proofs will be in and that is a MAJOR step towards completion of this book; we anticipate in fact that by then those proofs will have been returned to the printer as well, leaving a few revised proofs and blueprints to be seen. We'll have an end date by the next newsletter regarding advance books and bulk availability, but folks this news indicates the book is real, and for all intents and purposes, it is NOW. This is one of the last best chances to preorder it, because soon enough there won't be any "pre" involved!

Want to see a preview of the cover and read some blurb? Check out our brand new Danny and Kim website! You can also find last month's newsletter there, and as of next month we'll be archiving newsletters for the benefit of those who may have missed past issues. So there it is: you have now been updated, so if that's what you come here for, "POOF!" it's all over and we'll keep you posted next month.

Still not satisfied? All righty, on we go!

Newsflash! Our music can now also be found on a new children's Web site: Playhouse Radio.com! The site is geared for kids under 8 and has lots of good music by independent artists. You can listen to our songs by using their "Search by Artist" feature. There is a list of all the songs we currently have available on the site. Just click on the song to hear it! Membership is free; it lets you build a "favorites" list, which you can turn into a custom CD! If you click on "Pre-made CDs" you can buy a mix CD without being a member or having to decide on a song list. Any time someone buys one of our songs on a CD, we get a royalty. Check it out and tell all your friends! There aren't many online sites that are this great for indy musicians... especially with a kids' audience. We think it will be a big hit. Go to Playhouse Radio.com and look around! We even get a picture, bio and reciprocal link to our homepage on the site! And if you like it, spread the word!

Haven't been to our new Danny and Kim website yet? We have added a buncha new items for your amusement, and we are adding more all the time. You can find lots of info there - in fact, pretty much complete info there - pertaining to all of our activities as authors, illustrator, and musician, as well as resources there such as activities and links and articles. If you HAVE been there but not for the past two weeks, you'll see new stuff, and if you HAVEN'T paid it a visit yet, for what do you wait? If you can't get the hyperlink, it's located at "www.dannyandkim.com" (or just click this link: Danny and Kim), and we hope you'll enjoy it, put it on your favorites list, and visit it often. Although still a work in progress, there's still more than enough to start viewing immediately!

And now (drumroll, please...): On to the fambly! Rachele and Joshua each brought home their report cards lately. Let us gush for a moment: This is the sort of boredom that parents can get used to, and once again they have earned their dessert. Rachelle is really coming along nicely on the cello, and we think subconsciously applying it to piano as well which she has always shown an interest in. Joshu is now a senior white belt in Tae Kwon Do, and will be close to gold by the time the next letter comes out. We couldn't be prouder. Of course, baseball season starts soon, so our Saturday mornings will be gone for a while, but you know what? Watching your kid play baseball is what Saturday mornings were meant for. Keep it up, slugger.

Now, for another stirring edition of Chiller Theatre with your host, Maxx. Our little wunderkind. As in, we wonder what kind of trouble he'll get into next. Our little Jekyll-n-Hyde. Suffice to say there is rarely a dull moment, although based on his penchant for seeing bars from the inside (ie, doing "crib time"), we wonder if he's gonna end up in jail one day. Worse: Maybe he'll be a lawyer. Time will tell.

As for Kim and Danny, bowling has become, in the immortal words of Dr. Frank N. Furter, "a rather tender subject". We ARE bowling more consistently - in the context of consistently bad - but believing in the power of positive thinking as we do, we're hoping to pop a Norman Vincent Peale pill and then one of two things will happen: A) we'll be in first place, or B) we won't care. The important thing, of course, is that we're having a great time!

This month's site of the month: nextMonet (subtitled: Fine Art for Your Home and Office). Because you can't afford NOT to have art...As for this month's closing rock-n-roll quote comes to us from Renaissance, courtesy of one of the most underrated songs in rock and roll, Carpet of The Sun: "...part of the world that you live in, you are the part that you're giving."

love and peace, and we'll talk more in April,

- danny & kim, and their next generation

PS: As we are duty bound to remind you, if receiving this email puts you in a bad way, just email us and we'll take you off of our mailing list- but you don't want do that now, do you?
